Poisonous Snakes of the World

Green Mambas are tree snakes found in eastern Africa. Although green mambas are highly poisonous, they tend to flee from humans and only strike when cornered. Black Mambas, living in the same area, are longer, darker, and more aggressive.