

Tallest Waterfalls of the World

Angel Falls - Venezuela

This amazing waterfall is so high that often before the water even reaches the bottom, it is blown away by the wind!

The experts disagree...

#1 and #2 are the undisputed champs. However, from #3 on, there is a differing of opinion as to the proper height and rank of world waterfalls. For example, Tres Hermanas in Peru falls approximately 3,000 feet (914 meters), which would place it at #3 - but it is a tiered waterfall and each individual drop only falls about 600 feet each (less than 200 meters), excluding it from this particular list.
